About the Poem

The poem "Wandered Lonely as a Cloud" is a lyric poem that consists of four stanzas. The poem is written in iambic tetrameter, a meter that is often used in English poetry. The poem's rhyme scheme is ABAB CDCD EFEF GG.

The poem begins with the poet describing how he is wandering alone through the countryside. He compares himself to a cloud that is floating through the sky. The poet then goes on to describe the field of daffodils that he sees. He is amazed by the beauty of the flowers and their sheer number.

The poet then goes on to reflect on the experience of seeing the daffodils. He realizes that the flowers have brought him joy and that they will continue to bring him joy in the years to come. The poem ends with the poet expressing his hope that he will never forget the experience of seeing the daffodils.
